Lawsuit: Right to Vote in New York 2020

April 28, 2020: New York Resident in NY Election Lawsuit

Yang in sworn complaint claims New York residence, a right to vote in New York and an injury by a cancelation in 2020 New York primary.

Case: Yang et al v. New York State Board of Elections

Case Number: 1:2020cv03325

Ruling: Opinion & Order & Complaint, 4-28-2020

Source: Justia Court Case Information

7. Each of the Plaintiffs herein is a Citizen of the United States over the age of eighteen years.

PLAINTIFF ANDREW YANG

8. Plaintiff Yang is a natural person who resides in New York County, New York.

9. Yang campaigned for more than two years to become President of the United States and has worked as a businessman, a social activist, and commentator.

10. Yang is also a registered New York State Democratic Party voter.

11. Attached hereto as Exhibit A is a signed affidavit from Yang

Plaintiffs and Plaintiff-Intervenors are all registered New York State Democratic Party voters. Yang Aff. ¶ 2, ECF No. 20-1

78. Defendant has failed to protect the voting rights of Plaintiffs and all other similarly situated candidates and New York State voters.

91. Cancelling Plaintiff's election, but allowing others to occur on the same day, it is clear Defendant's action is fundamentally unfair and unjust and illegal. The nature of the interest at stake in this case, namely the right to vote and to have that vote count, is the most sacred liberty interest of all because it preserves all other basic civil, human, economic and political rights.

92. But the challenged law enabling the Defendants to act (NY's State Budget Law) and the challenged decision of the Defendant's on April 27, 2020 threaten to deprive Plaintiffs and all New York voters of this right

PARTIES

May 2020: Attacked NY Board of Elections for Harming His Right to Vote

“I’m glad that a federal judge agreed that depriving millions of New Yorkers of the right to vote was wrong. I hope that the New York Board of Elections takes from this ruling a newfound appreciation of their role in safeguarding our democracy.”

Lawsuit Alleged Damage to Influence in New York Politics

He argued in the documents that losing delegates and losing the right to vote in New York was “quite simply an outrage that is illegal” and that it would cause him to lose influence at the party’s convention.

Each of Yang, as candidate for President, and the other Plaintiffs, as candidates for Delegates, worked tirelessly throughout the cold winter months of January and February 2020 to secure signatures from NY registered Democrats so as to secure access to ballot under the New York Election Law. All in, Yang secured more than 20,000 signatures throughout the state and each of the other delegates secured hundreds, if not thousands, of signatures working with other delegates so that they could be candidates for delegates to the convention.

Voting History

Sept. 2019 Voting Records: Yang Lives in Manhattan, New York

“...businessman Andrew Yang is now the only New Yorker seeking the Democratic presidential nomination. The 44-year-old lives in Manhattan, according to voting records, along with his wife and two sons. But he can...”

?”He is open about being new to politics, which is reflected in his voting history. He did not vote in the 2016 presidential primary, the hot 2012 and 2000 general and primary elections, or midterm elections in 2010, 2006, or 2002, according to recent New York City Board of Elections records obtained by amExpress.”

Future Intentions

Oct. 2020: Considering New York City Mayoral Run

Former Democratic presidential candidate Andrew Yang continues to mull over a potential 2021 run, according to his former campaign manager, Zach Graumann.

“We haven’t ruled anything out,” Graumann said this week on The Capitol Pressroom. “I think the polling numbers on Andrew Yang for mayor of New York are very very compelling”... “TBD on mayor. I would be lying if I said we weren’t looking at it,” he added.

Sept. 2020: Influence Peddling in New York Politics: Fundraiser for NY State Senate Candidate

Former presidential candidate Andrew Yang is set to appear at a virtual fundraising event Wednesday for Rochester-area state Senate candidate Jeremy Cooney.

Yang, a New York businessman, is a native of upstate Schenectady who launched a presidential campaign an unknown, but sparked a sizeable Internet following along the way.

The Cooney fundraiser is the first time Yang is becoming involved in a state Senate race since dropping his presidential bid earlier this year.

March 2020: Andrew Yang Intending to Run for New York City Mayor in 2021

Entrepreneur and former presidential candidate Andrew Yang said he is “looking at” a possible run for mayor of New York in an interview with BuzzFeed News.

“You know, we’re looking at it,” Yang, who has recently become a CNN contributor since exiting the presidential race on Feb. 11, told the publication about a potential run.

March 2020 Interview: While Riding in First Class, Yang Told Reporter Looking at NYC Mayor’s Race

I Rode The Train With Andrew Yang On Super Tuesday And He Said He’s Considering Running For Mayor Of New York

I was sitting in the first-class car of the Amtrak Acela Express ... “You know, we’re looking at it,” he said when I asked if he’s thinking about running for mayor of New York City.... However, Yang’s team has also been looking into running for the office Bloomberg used to occupy.

“You know, we’re looking at it,” Yang said of running for mayor in New York City’s elections next year, crossing his legs to reveal socks with comedian Ronny Chieng’s face on them.

Attends New York City Church

And then I married my wife, Evelyn, who's Christian. And so, we're raising our kids in a Christian church. I go to church when I'm home, which is not very often unfortunately nowadays. I enjoy it. My faith is still very much a journey, but I'm unreservedly thrilled about the impact it has on my wife, my boys, my family, my community.

BS: Which denomination?

It's a progressive Protestant church. Mr. Yang and his family began attending Sunday services at the Reformed Church of New Paltz after they purchased a home nearby in 2015. We primarily go upstate, where we have a house in a town called New Paltz. They've got a rainbow flag up front. It's a very welcoming community.

On April 29, 2020, Yang announced that he was taking legal action against the New York State Board of Elections after the state election commission voted to cancel its presidential primary. The filing stated: "This unprecedented and unwarranted move infringes the rights of Plaintiffs and all New York State Democratic Party voters, of which there are estimated to be more than six million, as it fundamentally denies them the right to choose our next candidate for the office of President of the United States," the lawsuit states.

Connection to NY: Included NY in Company Name: CEO of Manhattan Test Prep

KK: Actually, I also want to ask you about your time at Manhattan Prep. Your colleague Kimberly Watkins told City Council in September that she had faced both gender harassment and pay inequity under your leadership there. Could you respond to those allegations?

I believe your reporters then talked to maybe half a dozen or more of Kim's contemporaries at the organization and found out that those allegations were completely groundless, which they were. In an essay published by the Gotham Gazette, Kimberly Watkins alleged that Mr. Yang fired her from Manhattan Prep because he did not think she would "continue working as hard" after getting married. Mr. Yang appeared on "The View" shortly after and said there was "zero truth" to Ms. Watkins's account. After publication, Ms. Watkins reached out to the editorial board, noting the question contained an error — she testified before a New York City hearing on pay equity, but, as she wrote to us, "I have on multiple occasions drawn contrast to 'pay equity,' with what I experienced, which concerns long term economic stability. The reality that my economic future was destroyed by Yang, right after my marriage, after an unblemished six-year commitment to this company, has been the focus of my story, not pay inequity... Yang's response [also] grossly overstates the investigative process and draws a false conclusion."
